DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of claim 1 in Paper No. 8, filed 11/4/02 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 recites the limitation "said overlapped portions" in lines 6-7. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ames et al. (US Statutory Invention Registration H1674).

Ames discloses the present invention substantially as claimed. However, Ames does not specifically disclose Ames discloses an absorbent article 20 having a chassis comprising two portions (examiner has designated as Portion 1 and Portion 2; Figure 1), which together define a generally T-shaped configuration when chassis is viewed in a stretched position. The first portion has opposed lateral segments 64/62 adapted to be wrapped around the waist of the wearer and overlap on each other (Figures 1 and 3). The second portion P2, has a distal end and a proximal end (examiner has designated as DE and PE) disposed generally vertically relative to the first portion P1. The second portion is adapted to be passed under the crotch of a wearer and folded upwardly and over the overlapped portions.

Ames further discloses one male fastening means 74 on one of said lateral segments and at least one female fastening means 76 on the other lateral segment, such that when the lateral segments overlap each other the male fastening means engages the female fastening means.

Ames further discloses a pair of opposed spaced apart male fastening means 80 at the distal end of the second portion, and a pair of spaced apart, opposed female fastening means 78 at the first portion such that when the lateral segments are wrapped around the waist of a wearer and the second portion is folded over the segments, each of the pair of male fastening means engage a correspondingly aligned one of the pair of female fastening means (Figure 3).

Ames does not specifically disclose a relaxed width (B) between about 20 to 100 percent of the width of the absorbent article when fully stretched. However, Ames discloses the back sheet comprises a strainable web material exhibiting lateral contraction behavior and an available stretch of 10-100%(col. 7, lines 51-55, col. 8, lines 1-12 and lines 42-54, col. 10, lines 32-46, col. 11, lines 52-60). Applicant claims the relaxed width is about 20-100% of the fully stretched width, which indicates the article is capable of stretching from 0-80%. Ames discloses the strainable web is capable of stretching 10-100% depending on the range of elastic response desired. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill at the time the invention was made to provide the article of Ames with the claimed relaxed width, since discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art.
